“Face to Face”

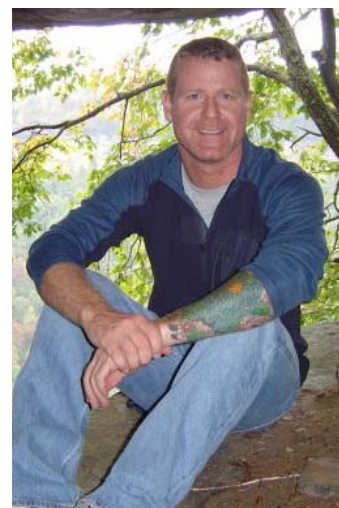

Reconnecting with our Neighbors in a world of Technology

Meet the Keynote:

Scott Mason has been with Rose Brooks Center (RBC) since October of 2007. He began his work as a volunteer and made the decision to leave Sprint after 13 years to work full-time as an Advocate, providing hospital-based domestic violence support for patients and employees at St. Luke's Hospital.

Scott now works for Project SAFE as a violence prevention trainer in the KCMO school district. He works to help youth of all ages to learn to make positive life choices, develop healthy relationships, as well as the benefit of non-violent alternatives. In addition to the violence prevention training, he provides prevention training for educators, to help them learn to understand the effects of violence on youth, including how to identify at-risk youth and connect them to the support services they may need.

On a lighter note... Scott enjoys the basics. Good cup of coffee; A good chat with friends; Running; And a night of DVR! He likes dry/sarcastic humor, but ironically finds it annoying if someone doesn't know how to turn off sarcasm and just have a GREAT chat. One thing is certain, he is always amazed by what he learns from the youth in Kansas City.
